Fox News provocatively called for President Barack Obama to be impeached Tuesday, and the president's press secretary dismissed it as "nonsense." Fox News host and longtime Republican operative Eric Bolling giddily regaled conservative viewers with the obvious implication that the president's public release of the Bowe Bergdahl "sweetheart" deal represented the signing of his impeachment articles and that Barack Obama is on the fast track to being the third president in U.S. history to be impeached. "He has left us no choice," Bolling crowed as he unveiled a graphic that featured a picture of President Obama along with the words "Impeached" in front of an explosion. "If we don't make America safe, they'll come after us," he continued. "We have to impeach him." Bolling's number one guest was Fox News contributor and former House Speaker Newt Gingrich (R-Ga.), whose perspective on the subject was that the president should not be impeached for doing what his predecessor did "every single year." "If Obama spends one day more in a helicopter than he's working on the problems in the United States, there will be an impeachment," Gingrich told Bolling. "I want to speak to you as a former Speaker of the House," Bolling responded. "You do know that this president has not done more? You do know that." "What Obama has done more than his predecessors was to surrender American ground in Iraq," Gingrich countered. "He has done it!" Bolling exclaimed. "He has done it!" When the conversation turned to the Bowe Bergdahl deal, Bolling asked Gingrich if he was "supportive of the five terrorists who are still alive?" "That's not my idea of a swap," Gingrich answered. But Bolling wasn't through. "So, Newt, it's as I was going to ask you, why is it that this is about shooting Americans? Because they're smarter, I think," he said. "I think America is being endangered by a president who is someone who doesn't care about our economy, who doesn't care about the things that make America exceptional. He is trying to get us have agreed to a settlement. The object of the agreement is to make an end to litigation and the obligations with which the parties are bound by it. The agreement need not be reduced to writing, nor filed in any court, nor even be signed by the parties. It has always been held that the oral agreement of the parties, evidenced by their acts, is sufficient to constitute an accord and satisfaction of their obligations. By his acceptance of the benefits of the agreement, without objection, the other party has waived his rights under the agreement, either to assert an accord and satisfaction or to sue for the original cause of action.... His consent constitutes a waiver of his remedies at law, and extinguishes the original cause of action. The right of action upon the contract then passes to the party receiving the benefits of the agreement.... The original action is thereby extinguished and the cause of action is taken away from the state by the operation of the law. The original cause of action belongs to the state, and the court has no jurisdiction of a cause of action that is barred by the statute of limitations. Substantial compliance with the statute is all that is required to defeat the statute and give the state court jurisdiction over the cause of action.... " 6 C.J.S. Accord and Satisfaction § 1 (footnotes omitted). It has been said that "an `accord and satisfaction'... extends beyond the discharge of existing claims and relieves against all future claims or demands.... A new cause of action is created between the parties.... The rights of the parties are altered, rather than satisfied; and the rendition of a judgment which operates as a discharge of a claim to avoid stale demands, or to cut off a right of action which is not barred by limitation, does not deprive a plaintiff of his cause of action." 25 C.J.S. § 2 (footnotes omitted). In D.C. Transit System, Inc. v. Conel, 209 Va. 206, 163 S.E.2d 135, the court quoted from 26 Am.Jur.2d, Accord and Satisfaction, § 2, at 613 (footnote omitted): The mere act of receiving the money without objection constitutes a waiver of all claims, whether established or claimed, against the person who is charged with the payment, to the extent that payment is made. This is the general rule applicable to claims for breach of contract, tort and for the
